H. W. ROLLINS,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

Whatever be the origin of the crusade against vice in Colorado City we hope it will result in moral improvement. Colorado City has too substantial a population and future to permit so many resorts of vice to thrive.

The recount of the vote in Arapahoe county will result in giving the Democratic candidate for the County Clerkship, which the election was conducted. The most important contest is between the candidates for county clerk. The recount shows that there was a tie vote of three votes in a total of fourteen thousand votes cast.

A few days ago the Denver Republican published a table comparing the value of real estate in Denver with the value of real estate in other cities. From this table, it appeared that Denver property, considering the population, was very much lower than property in other growing cities of the same size. But it happens that the table is incorrect. For example, it gives the value of the best corner lots in the retail portion of the city as one thousand dollars per foot front. It is hardly necessary to say more than this to show the inaccuracy of the table, because there is a great deal of property on Sixteenth street which has been sold and is now held at from fifteen hundred to two thousand dollars per front foot. The best corner lots are not in the market at one thousand dollars per foot, even before the recent great rise in real estate.

The republican members of the Iowa legislature have [illegible] themselves creditably in re-electing James F. Wilson to the senate. He is a man of marked ability and has rendered the party valuable and distinguished services. He was [illegible] identified with the early history of the party in Iowa and served in the house of representatives during the war and the reconstruction period. He was a colleague of Blaine Garfield Kelley and other republican leaders, and his affections always [illegible] the greatest respect. He took an important part in the impeachment proceedings against President Johnson, after which he retired from public life until 1883, when he was elected to the senate to succeed Senator Kirkwood. His course in the senate has been characterized by a firm consistency to the principles of the republican party, and he is considered one of the ablest members on the republican side.

One of the county commissioners was [illegible] interviewed by a reporter of the Republican in regard to the action taken by the county commissioners in granting the right of way to a street railway between this city and Colorado City. In this interview the commissioner gives the reason that the board put the limitation it did on the rights of way. The commissioner also stated that a foreign company was anxious to buy of the [illegible] franchises the right to build a street railway between the two cities. This seems to us to settle the whole question. We are reliably informed that the Colorado Springs and Manitou Street Railway company is perfectly willing that a foreign corporation should build this road. It is simply natural that a good road should be built. The commissioner also stated that the [illegible] company was willing and anxious to [illegible] franchises with the [illegible] and that [illegible] were unwilling to [illegible] Apparently, therefore, there is nothing in the way of securing a horse railway between this city and Colorado City. For convenience in doing business this railway is needed by both cities and ought to be built. The day is not far distant when both cities will be practically one and a horse railway will greatly hasten this result.

Senator Brown of Georgia is in favor of taking the tax off of tobacco and whiskey. His views are given in the following:

Tobacco is a luxury used by the rich and poor alike. And the money for tobacco is taken from the [illegible] of the people. Two dollars of tax, therefore, on tobacco that is [illegible] per pound would [illegible] probably be a good deal more than the other [illegible] Congress can [illegible] which does not [illegible] Now, [illegible] practically [illegible] That is not [illegible] I do not [illegible] see it stand [illegible] We [illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] would [illegible] It seems [illegible] will [illegible] whiskey [illegible] more [illegible] be [illegible]

A new line has been organized which includes the Garden of the Gods.

Owing to accident to the flag staff the new signals were not displayed yesterday.

There will be a special meeting of El Paso lodge No. 13, A. F. and A. M., this evening.

There is now on sale at No. 112 North Tejon street a large assortment of Oriental rugs, carpets and portieres.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sumner came down from Leadville yesterday afternoon and will make a week's visit in the city.

Glass was broken yesterday on the southeast corner of Bijou street and Nevada avenue for the new Presbyterian church.

There will be preaching services tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, by the Rev. J. D. Graham, of the United Presbyterian church.

Yesterday afternoon a satisfactory test was made of the steam heating apparatus in the new freight depot of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. The building will be permanently occupied next week.

It is hardly necessary to call attention to the advertisement of Mr. F. H. Gay, the enterprising coal and shoe dealer, which occupies a prominent place on this page this morning. Mr. Gay expects to remove shortly into a more commodious establishment, but prior to removing he has decided to dispose of his stock at prices which cannot be duplicated. He handles all the standard "makes" of boots and shoes, and guarantees his goods to give perfect satisfaction.

Yesterday morning about eight o'clock a general alarm of fire was sounded which called out the entire fire department. For several minutes it was not known where the fire was but it was finally located in the stable in the rear of the store of J. F. Selsenridge & Son. A lighted lantern had fallen from the roof upon which it was hanging, and had ignited a small pile of straw. The smoke was discovered by some men who were working in the adjoining stock and hardware store, and the fire was extinguished before the services of the department were needed and no damage resulted.

Our readers will find given in the weekly Gazette which will be issued this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, a full report of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Colorado, A. F. and A. M., at its annual session in this city. The report will be published in pamphlet form and will be mailed to the members of the lodge throughout the state. The publication will be a valuable one to the craft.

Word was received in the city yesterday that Mr. Ballard, the Englishman who was shot in Denver, received a telegram from the wife of the other Englishman who was killed in the fight, stating that she would arrive in Denver on the 15th inst. Mr. Ballard will be a witness against the murderer, who is now in jail awaiting trial. The Gazette's informant is authority for the statement that Mrs. Scott is coming to Denver to attend the trial of her husband's murderer.

From the Denver Republican of yesterday we clip the following: "Bath," which is to be produced at the Macon Opera house next Friday evening, will be one of the most elaborate and magnificent productions ever given in the city. Professor W. Mason Broad of Denver, whose ability as a director is being generally recognized, has done efficient service in training the large chorus. The solo parts will be taken by well known local talent assisted by Madame O'Grady of Denver. The costumes will be given with a full regard to appropriateness in the way of classic drapery, etc., and will be the most elaborate ever produced by a Colorado orchestra. Seats will be placed on sale early next week and as the price of admission has been placed at a very reasonable sum there should be a large audience. The entertainment will afford the public a good opportunity to testify to the substantial way their appreciation of the efforts and improvements of this worthy local organization.

Shortly after half past four o'clock yesterday morning Judge Williams, who resides on the west side of the fourteen feet of the city directory, was awakened from the restless slumbers of Morpheus by the cries of a man who was in the throes of some terrible agony. On all sides of the house could be heard the groans and cries of the unfortunate man, who was evidently suffering the most excruciating pain. The cries were located in the western part of the house, and as there was no one in the room they were easily traced by means of a garden hose. An effort was made to sound an alarm from the college house but it was ineffectual. The necessity for a fire alarm bell in this city at the present time is very urgent as the cry could be heard for any considerable distance from the building, particularly at night. The damage caused by the fire was confined to the room in the house and contents and will not exceed $200. This amount is fully covered by insurance. It is very doubtful if the College company could have rendered any timely assistance had the alarm been responded to as the house was some six or seven blocks distant from the nearest fire plug. It was very fortunate that there was no wind at the time, or the building would have been entirely destroyed.

The man who was injured by the Pacific express on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad early yesterday morning gave his name as William Beck, and is apparently about 36 years old. He was kept in the city marshal's office until yesterday afternoon when he was removed to the county poor house. A careful examination of his injuries revealed the fact that his collar bone had been broken, and that he had sustained a serious internal injury in the back. There are fair chances of his recovery though he is still in a very critical condition. Yesterday morning he told Officer Sullivan that he had intended to board the express, but that it was going too fast for him to accomplish his object. He stepped off the track, and leaned against the coal chute, thinking to let it pass. The space between the track and the chute being very narrow, the unfortunate man was struck by the moving train and dragged for some distance. He is entirely destitute of money, and was unable to tell where he had come from or where he was going.

Mr. B. R. Dell the extensive tie contractor, was in the city yesterday and registered at the Grand View hotel. He is now permanently located at Howbert, a station on the Colorado Midland railway in South park one mile from the entrance to Eleven Mile canon. Mr. Dell has recently erected a large store building at this place and is now engaged in conducting a general merchandise and shipping business. His business for the past few months has aggregated about $4000 a month. Messrs. Scott & Remick are now operating a saw mill four miles north of the station and have recently [illegible]. They have contracted to furnish Mr. Dell with 20,000 sawed and hewed ties for the Denver, Utah and Pacific railroad. Mr. Dell will have completed by the first of February the delivery of 30,000 ties for the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth railroad, for which he has the contract. These ties were cut from land which had been bought or leased from the ranchmen in that neighborhood. Howbert promises to be one of the principal shipping and supply points on the Midland between this city and Buena Vista. It commands the trade of the ranchmen along the following streams: Currant creek, West Four Mile, Four Mile, Ute Pass creek, Six Mile creek and Eight Mile, and also the upper end of the Fairplay. Mr. Dell has sold goods to ranchmen living within twenty-five miles of Colorado City and as far west as Hill Top in Chaffee county. The owners of 75,000 head of cattle live in the vicinity of the station and the Howbert Company will ship stock early next spring. A postoffice has just been established at Howbert with Mr. Dell as postmaster. The Howbert mail will be carried by stage from Buena Vista. A postoffice has been established at Dicksonville, a station on the Midland between Howbert and Buena Vista, with Mr. Dell's brother as postmaster. A postoffice has been established at Dicksonville, a station on the Midland between Howbert and Buena Vista, with Mr. Dell's brother as postmaster. A postoffice has been established at Dicksonville, a station on the Midland between Howbert and Buena Vista, with Mr. Dell's brother as postmaster.

Have the best facilities for doing such work, and will guarantee satisfaction.
